WASHINGTON, September 12 .- For the fifth time this week, Orville Wright established a new time record in his aeropiane tests at Fort Myer, Va., today, remaining in the air 74 minutes and 24 seconds. Yesterday's record was 70 minutes and 26 seconds.

In both flights at Fort Myer today, Wright broke records. He stayed up nine minutes and six and one-third seconds in the first flight, in which Major George O. Squires, acting chief signal officer, accompanied him, and broke the record for a two-man flight which he established on Tuesday.

"NOT YET BUT SOON"-EDISON. SEATTLE, September 12.-Thomas

A. Edison, who is taking a vacation on the Pacific coast, says that neither the aeroplane nor the dirigible balloon will successfully solve the question of navigating the air. He said:

"I am firmly convinced that the time is hear at hand when it will be possible to sail through the air as easily and as safely as we now go by land and water, but I have little faith in the aeroplane or the balloon as a means of actial anvigation. The aeroplane of the Wright brothers depends too much on the personal equation. Place some other man in that zeroplane, and it would not work.
